

DO YOU HAVE PSORIASIS?

CMAX is a world-class, clinical research and drug testing facility based at the Royal Adelaide Hospital, that carries out research on a variety of medicines for the pharmaceutical industry. The types of medicines that are investigated are varied, with some already marketed and in use in hospitals and by General Practitioners, whereas others may be in the early stages of investigation and development.

An Ethics Committee approves all clinical studies carried out at CMAX.

We are seeking volunteers
aged 18 to 55 that have 10% or more psoriasis
covering their body surface area for a clinical trial of an investigational medication.

Volunteers who participate in CMAX studies will be eligible for financial reimbursement.
